Council Fought Interestingly For Several Hours.

SHARP WORDS EXCHANGED

All the Members Had Much to Say and They Said It—Mr. Purinton Opposed to Long Time—Doctor Marshall as the Company's Champion—Mr. Peake Looked to the Future—President McDonald's Claim—Lively Tilt on Every Hand. Some Other Business.

There was war in council last night, and for two hours the fight raged with unabated fury, the friends of the new street railway battling hard for a 25-year franchise. It ended in a victory for the friends of a grant for 10 years.

The session was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock by President Purinton with Members Kent, Horwell, Challis, Stewart, Peake and Marshall present. The minutes were read and approved. Mr. Kent said that he had seen Mr. Coxall in regard to the communication he sent council at its last meeting, and he had said he didn't want to put council to any expense but just wanted them to understand they were encroaching on private property. Commissioner Finley reported as having done repair work during the month, and the treasurer's report had the following balances: General, $1,099.84; street, $1,233.31; wharf, $77.61; fire, $545.49; police, $1,170.29; light, $1,509.59; sinking, $8,341.61; interest, $2,385.04; sanitary, $809.22; bridge, $5,129.97; street repair, $1,313.71. Mayor Gilbert reported having collected $108, and the report of Chief Morley showed the department had answered 13 patrol calls, one ambulance and two fire, and conveyed 22 prisoners to the lockup. Engineer George said the East End culvert was almost finished and the contractor was granted $475, and Cunningham & Shingleton were given $125. Clerk Hanley said the light contract had been signed. Then the suggestions of the board of improvements in regard to where the new lights should be located were read, and Mr. Kent made a suggestion that the light at Pennsylvania avenue and Sugar alley be changed to Pennsylvania avenue and Elm street. Mr. Marshall moved the matter be left in the hands of the light committee, and Mr. Peake said: "The board have left Jethro out entirely. They have no light, no boardwalks and there are 60 houses down there. The street commissioner never gets down there. The people down there pay as much taxes as anybody in the city. Some of them have lots they paid $500 for that I wouldn't have at $5." President Purinton asked what had become of the incandescents, and Mr. Kent said the board had not taken them into consideration. Mr. Marshall then asked that four be placed in the East End fire department, and said that section should have better fire protection, as they had practically no department and their fire apparatus was absolutely a nuisance. President Purinton then explained if council would take some action on lights for the clock they could get the benefit free of charge until the contract went into effect.

Mr. Marshall then said: I would like to know how council can act on the matter of light at all. The board of improvement recommended against entering into a contract and yet council ignored them. I fail to see how the contract can be made." Mr. Purinton—If the solicitor will read the law perhaps it will enlighten the gentleman. Mr. Marshall—When the board of improvement was appointed it was said everything must be under their direction. If they amount to anything their recommendation must go. Mr. Purinton—The chair rules that the gentleman's objection is not well taken. It should have been brought up when the contract was passed. The board of improvement simply supervises after council contracts. The solicitor then read the law, which states that the board of improvement shall supervise the lights under the direction of council.

Mr. Marshall—Have they been supervising it? I suppose the board of improvement is a figurehead only for a certain purpose.

Mr. Purinton—The law did not make it necessary for the board of improvement to make any recommendation, and they did it merely as private individuals. I am also of the opinion there is no use referring it to the light committee.

"Only in one case then do the board of improvement have anything to say," said Mr. Stewart. "They recommended 90 lights, but council said $5 were enough. They can bob up serenely when they are wanted, but when they are not wanted they can die very suddenly."

The solicitor read the section again, and Mr. Peake said: "According to that the street committee have no right to have the streets cleaned. I'd like to see the board of improvement clean the streets better than they do. They were never in a worse condition than they are now."

"I would just like to call the attention of reporters who roast council to that section," came from Mr. Marshall with a smile. "It is very unfortunate the law does not meet with the approval of those who are antagonistic to the board," was Mr. Purinton's comment. "The law is all right for those who are in with the board of improvements," said Doctor Marshall. "The board had to be consulted until they reported adversely, and then they weren't in it."

Mr. Kent wanted to know why the matter would go to the light committee, and Mr. Peake said: "Mr. Marshall, maybe the East End lights are worrying you. If the light committee have no power they might as well resign." Mr. Marshall said they had no power, but it was courtesy to refer the matter to them, which Mr. Kent thought was a waste of time.

Mr. Peake again started to talk, when President Purinton said: "I will have to call the attention of the gentlemen to the rules. They can only speak twice on a motion." "They've been on it half a dozen times already," replied Mr. Peake, "and I think the light committee should go over the work of the board. They left out Jethro and Sunnyside entirely. Council never paid for the light at Hamill's saloon. It was donated. They pay $1,360 taxes on Jethro street, and by the next meeting of council I can tell you what they pay in Jethro. They have no fire protection and they should either be recognized or thrown out of the city into the county. Every meeting East End is given a fire plug, or sidewalk or light."

The matter was unanimously left in the hands of the committee, and President Purinton remarked that they should be sure and not forget the Third ward.

President Purinton suggested that sufficient light be placed at the disposal of the school board to light the clock. Mr. Challis moved they be given six and the water works six. A discussion started at once, and the president explained that it took four lights to illuminate the clock, and the board would have two for their room. Mr. Marshall said there was no use in council going into another department and giving them enough lights to illuminate their building. Mr. Challis withdrew his motion giving any to the water works, and the motion to give six to the school board was passed. Mr. Marshall then moved that four lights be placed in the East End fire department. President Purinton said the company only agreed to extend the lights over contiguous territory, and he and Mr. Marshall had a slight discussion, the motion was carried. Mr. Purinton and Mr. Kent voting no. The balance of the lights were left in the hands of the committee.

Clerk Hanley read the proposition from George P. Rust to operate a street railway. It was followed by a conference around the clerk's table, and Mr. Peake moved the matter go over for two weeks. Mr. Marshall opposed it on the ground that the bridge people were in a hurry, and the proposition should not hang fire any longer. A vote was taken and the motion was carried, Stewart, Kent and Marshall voting no. Mr. McDonald said he would very much like to have the matter settled at once, as it was holding them back and they could not operate a partially completed line. Mr. Peake said he didn't see why they were in such a hurry, as the power house was not built. Mr. McDonald replied that they had made arrangements to get power until next spring.

The clerk read the new ordinance governing the line, and after some talk Mr. Marshall moved that the rules be suspended and it be placed on its final reading, and Mr. Stewart seconded. Mr. Stewart was called to the chair, and President Purinton said: "I am opposed to that motion, and am not in favor of a 25 year franchise. There will be amendments, and it will have to go back to its second reading, and the amendments might as well be offered on the first reading."

Mr. Marshall—Of course a suspension of the rules is essential to pass this ordinance tonight. There is now an objection to a 25-year franchise after the board of improvements have recommended it. Of all other franchises there are none under 25 years. In most cases they are lengthened to 50. It is not right for us to curtail the company any more. They have complied with all the restrictions placed in the general ordinance. There is objection to a 25-year franchise in place of 10. I don't see the right or justice in it. This question was never raised before, and the company never doubted and were led to believe they would get a 25-year franchise. I cannot understand it. The franchise cannot be worth very much in the first few years, and they will be placed under the probabilities of not getting an extension of that time. It is an absurdity. I cannot see why the rules should not be suspended."

"Has anyone an amendment to offer?" asked Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Purinton—The question is on a suspension of the rules. "The chair is perfectly aware of the question," retorted Mr. Stewart.

The vote when taken resulted in the motion being lost, Challis, Kent, Peake and Purinton voting no.

"I move the ordinance be amended by inserting the word 10 years instead of 25," promptly said Mr. Purinton. "I take this position because I do not deem it wise for this council to tie up the city on a 25 year contract and am even doubtful of the advisability of granting a franchise over these streets. There is a great doubt in my mind as to whether it is a feasible route. It may work a great injury to the city by interfering with traffic on hill streets. On Walnut and Broadway there is a great amount of traffic, and the question as to what impediment the line will make is a matter of much importance. Possibly in 10 years it may not be thought best that the franchise be continued. If the line works satisfactory then it will be all right, but if it doesn't, then it places in the power of council to revoke the franchise. To grant a 25 year franchise means to tie the city up for a generation. I want the city to decide on its experience at the end of 10 years whether it is wise to grant a continuance. To me it is a serious question whether the city should grant a franchise which may cost the lives of many people who ride on their cars. I would not want to be on a car well loaded going over Walnut street on that sidling grade. For these reasons I want to limit it to 10 years. I think franchises will be revolutionized in the next 10 years, as they are being revolutionized now. Giving franchises free handed is meeting its day. You cannot tell what the city will be in 10 years from now, and I want it placed in position to demand a percentage of the gross receipts at that time if it is large enough. If the franchise is a good thing for the city at that time the company will have no trouble getting an extension. If it is not good they can be shut out. There is not a member here who does not wish the existing company only had a 10-year contract. In 10 years from now council may have the same thing on their hands. If we grant a franchise today we take no precautions for the future. I say it is not right. We should provide for the future, and not alone for the present. The last 10 years has seen changes in the city, and the next 10 years certainly will if the company on the opposite side of the river do what they expect. If the people who passed the other franchise had it to do over they would not do it. The conditions then and now are different, and don't let us tie ourselves up as they did. We will not be doing the company an injustice. What applies when the other franchise was passed applies now. I venture the prediction if the ordinance is passed as it is now every member will live to see the day he will regret it. I am not reflecting on the parties who are going to build the line, as I have reason to believe some of my best friends are members of the company. You cannot tell who will own the street railway in a short time. We must not take into consideration the parties back of the line. We must go at it on business principles, and know nobody in the matter. For me to tie the city up under these circumstances, I won't do it."

"If hillside streets are an objection, I wonder that the gentleman is at all willing to grant a franchise," said Mr. Marshall. "The same objections will apply to 10 years as well as 25. I can't see the object of wanting to cut the franchise down. We have allowed the company to believe they will receive a 25-year franchise and they have invested their money, and now we have got them by the neck we are choking them down. It may be right, but it is peculiar. Why all this wonderful reformation at once?"

Mr. Peake said when he took a stand nobody could change him. "I can see away ahead and some members of council can't," he continued. "Why they have no poles in yet, and the bridge won't be finished by the first day of April, although I have not seen it."

Mr. Stewart—We are talking about the ordinance now.

Mr. Peake—We're talking on this question.

Mr. Stewart exercised his temporary authority at this point and said: "Please come to order, sir."

Mr. Marshall arose to speak and Mr. Purinton rose to a point of order, but was not recognized and Mr. Marshall said: "I do not like the question of laying this over. A little while ago Mr. Peake was satisfied." Mr. Peake began to speak, but was stopped by Mr. Stewart. He continued to talk and Mr. Stewart rapped again to which Mr. Peake replied: "You've recognized me now" and Mr. Stewart said: "No I've not recognized you. You take your seat or leave the room," and Mr. Peake sat down.

"I have not heard anything advocating a 25 year franchise except that somebody has been led astray" said Mr. Purinton. "I wish to call the attention of council to my remarks when the general ordinance was passed. At that time I said this would come up again. The ordinance passed says nothing about a 25 year franchise. There are times when it is convenient to be blind, and if somebody has been deceived it is convenient for them to be blind. I am here advocating what I believe to be right. There has not been a word said bearing on the merits of the case. I haven't any doubt the new road will be mortgaged for more than it will sell. If what the gentleman advocated is true, the company will have no trouble in getting an extension. It strikes me as cross-grained for a man to say they won't build, when they expect to turn it into cash at once. If we don't get what we want we won't play in your yard. All corporations make the same plea, and as a result the city pays for everything they get from corporations."

Mr. Stewart called him down again, but Mr. Peake continued to talk, and Mr. Stewart said: "Take your seat Mr. Marshall—" but Peake sat down. "I'll tend to you some other time," retorted Mr. Peake.

Mr. Stewart called Mr. Kent to the chair, and said: "I'll amend that mo-

I am not in favor of corporations receiving good things for nothing. I do not believe this company would accept a 10-year franchise."

"It's all right for Mr. Marshall to talk, but I am the only member of council who was present when the other franchise was granted," broke in Mr. Peake. "How many times has Mr. Marshall asked council to fix up the road between here and East End, and asked if something could not be done with the company? I am sorry I voted for that franchise. We want to be on a good footing, so that when we are dead and in our graves it will not be thrown up to our children. If I am living in 19 years from now, you bet I'll be in this council and see Al Johnson don't get another franchise. I don't say that Mr. McDonald will do the same as Al Johnson. We get cursed and d—d if we don't do right."

Mr. Horwell withdrew his vote on the motion to lay it over, but it was too late.

"I believe in a 10 year franchise. At first Mr. Marshall didn't care whether they got a route. I don't see why he changed his mind," said Mr. Challis.

Mr. Marshall—My ideas are not changed. I was opposed to the route, but the property owners wanted it. The route is not in question, it is a question of whether we will give them a 25 year franchise. Only in the last 15 minutes when he sat down alongside of the gentleman next to him has he changed his mind. Every man should have a mind of his own and —

"I rise to a point of order," cried Mr. Purinton. "The gentleman has cast reflections on me and the gentleman from the First ward, which I deeply resent."

"The gentleman will hereafter leave out all personalities," ordered Mr. Stewart.

"It is unfortunate that it cuts deep, but it does," retorted Mr. Marshall. "Some members of council have engaged in an open quarrel with members of the bridge company. I don't care whether they get a franchise at all, but think we should treat them with common decency and respect."

Council decided to hear Mr. McDonald on the subject, and he made a short speech. He closed by stating they would not build under a 10-year contract.

I would not want to be on a car well loaded going over Walnut street on that sidling grade. For these reasons I want to limit it to 10 years. I think franchises will be revolutionized in the next 10 years, as they are being revolutionized now. Giving franchises free handed is meeting its day. You cannot tell what the city will be in 10 years from now, and I want it placed in position to demand a percentage of the gross receipts at that time if it is large enough. If the franchise is a good thing for the city at that time the company will have no trouble getting an extension. If it is not good they can be shut out. There is not a member here who does not wish the existing company only had a 10-year contract. In 10 years from now council may have the same thing on their hands. If we grant a franchise today we take no precautions for the future. I say it is not right. We should provide for the future, and not alone for the present. The last 10 years has seen changes in the city, and the next 10 years certainly will if the company on the opposite side of the river do what they expect. If the people who passed the other franchise had it to do over they would not do it. The conditions then and now are different, and don't let us tie ourselves up as they did. We will not be doing the company an injustice. What applies when the other franchise was passed applies now. I venture the prediction if the ordinance is passed as it is now every member will live to see the day he will regret it. I am not reflecting on the parties who are going to build the line, as I have reason to believe some of my best friends are members of the company. You cannot tell who will own the street railway in a short time. We must not take into consideration the parties back of the line. We must go at it on business principles, and know nobody in the matter. For me to tie the city up under these circumstances, I won't do it."

"If hillside streets are an objection, I wonder that the gentleman is at all willing to grant a franchise," said Mr. Marshall. "The same objections will apply to 10 years as well as 25. I can't see the object of wanting to cut the franchise down. We have allowed the company to believe they will receive a 25-year franchise and they have invested their money, and now we have got them by the neck we are choking them down. It may be right, but it is peculiar. Why all this wonderful reformation at once?"

Mr. Marshall arose to speak and Mr. Purinton rose to a point of order, but was not recognized and Mr. Marshall said: "I do not like the question of laying this over. A little while ago Mr. Peake was satisfied." Mr. Peake began to speak, but was stopped by Mr. Stewart. He continued to talk and Mr. Stewart rapped again to which Mr. Peake replied: "you've recognized me now" and Mr. Stewart said: "No I've not recognized you. You take your seat or leave the room," and Mr. Peake sat down.

"I have not heard anything advocating a 25 year franchise except that somebody has been led astray" said Mr. Purinton. "I wish to call the attention of council to my remarks when the general ordinance was passed. At that time I said this would come up again. The ordinance passed says nothing about a 25 year franchise. There are times when it is convenient to be blind, and if somebody has been deceived it is convenient for them to be blind. I am here advocating what I believe to be right. There has not been a word said bearing on the merits of the case. I haven't any doubt the new road will be mortgaged for more than it will sell. If what the gentleman advocated is true, the company will have no trouble in getting an extension. It strikes me as cross-grained for a man to say they won't build, when they expect to turn it into cash at once. If we don't get what we want we won't play in your yard. All corporations make the same plea, and as a result the city pays for everything they get from corporations."

Mr. Peake said: "I want justice from Mr. Stewart. I don't want to be treated as a cur."

Mr. Stewart called him down again, but Mr. Peake continued to talk, and Mr. Stewart said: "Take your seat Mr. Marshall—" but Peake sat down. "I'll tend to you some other time," retorted Mr. Peake.

Mr. Stewart called Mr. Kent to the chair, and said: "I'll amend that motion."

I am not in favor of corporations receiving good things for nothing. I do not believe this company would accept a 10-year franchise."

"It's all right for Mr. Marshall to talk, but I am the only member of council who was present when the other franchise was granted," broke in Mr. Peake. "How many times has Mr. Marshall asked council to fix up the road between here and East End, and asked if something could not be done with the company? I am sorry I voted for that franchise. We want to be on a good footing, so that when we are dead and in our graves it will not be thrown up to our children. If I am living in 19 years from now, you bet I'll be in this council and see Al Johnson don't get another franchise. I don't say that Mr. McDonald will do the same as Al Johnson. We get cursed and d—d if we don't do right."

Mr. Horwell withdrew his vote on the motion to lay it over, but it was too late.

"I believe in a 10 year franchise. At first Mr. Marshall didn't care whether they got a route. I don't see why he changed his mind," said Mr. Challis.

Mr. Marshall—My ideas are not changed. I was opposed to the route, but the property owners wanted it. The route is not in question, it is a question of whether we will give them a 25 year franchise. Only in the last 15 minutes when he sat down alongside of the gentleman next to him has he changed his mind. Every man should have a mind of his own and ———

"I rise to a point of order," cried Mr. Purinton. "The gentleman has cast reflections on me and the gentleman from the First ward, which I deeply resent."

"The gentleman will hereafter leave out all personalities," ordered Mr. Stewart.

"It is unfortunate that it cuts deep, but it does," retorted Mr. Marshall. "Some members of council have engaged in an open quarrel with members of the bridge company. I don't care whether they get a franchise at all, but think we should treat them with common decency and respect."

Council decided to hear Mr. McDonald on the subject, and he made a short speech. He closed by stating they would not build under a 10-year contract.

Mr. Peake said when he took a stand nobody could change him. "I can see away ahead and some members of council can't," he continued. "Why they have no poles in yet, and the bridge won't be finished by the first day of April, although I have not seen it."

Mr. Stewart—We are talking about the ordinance now.

Mr. Peake—We're talking on this question.

Mr. Stewart exercised his temporary authority at this point and said: "Please come to order, sir."

Mr. Marshall arose to speak and Mr. Purinton rose to a point of order, but was not recognized and Mr. Marshall said: "I do not like the question of laying this over. A little while ago Mr. Peake was satisfied." Mr. Peake began to speak, but was stopped by Mr. Stewart. He continued to talk and Mr. Stewart rapped again to which Mr. Peake replied: "you've recognized me now" and Mr. Stewart said: "No I've not recognized you. You take your seat or leave the room," and Mr. Peake sat down.

TALK ABOUT ROADS.

When the farmers meet in Lisbon

next month they can do no better than spend a portion of the time discuss-some plan for the improvement of Columbiana county's roads. To them would come the greatest benefit if a complete system of pikes extended through every township and near to every farm. It would, to be sure, cost some money, but it has been shown time after time that no community can spend money for a better cause. The return is so far in excess of the outlay that it is economy of the best kind. Let the farmer discuss the question inteligently, and they will not be long in deciding that the awful waste now in progress, because of ancient methods of repairing roads long past the age of repair, must give way to modern systems of improvement.

SENATORS AND THE TARIFF.

The passage of a tariff bill at the special session of congress depends entirely upon those Republican senators who refuse to believe with the majority of their party in the merit of a gold standard. A poll of the senate shows

40 Republicans, 34 Democrats, nine sildown by the ways and means committee. There is reason to believe, and it has been expressed by men who are high in the party, that five western senators will vote for protection. This number will send the bill through the senate with colors flying, but before they vote as the majority of the party

desire the silver men may demand concessions that will prevent high duties

and rob the measure of much of its usefulness.

PREPARING A TARIFF BILL.

Republican Members Commenced Work

on the Measure Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The Republicans members of the ways and means committee began their work of framing the tariff bill today when they held a meeting, the first of a long series which will continue until the bill has been finished. Chairman Dingley says that there will be no sub-committee appointed and that each schedule will be discussed by all of the members.

They will by no means rely upon the results of the hearings to manufacturing, imports, etc., from other and less interested persons than those who appeared during the recent schedule hearings. Several experts will be called in to confer with the Republicans and will be asked to investigate various matters for them. The minority members of the committee, according to the usual custom, will take no part in the work until the bill is ready to report to the house.

VEST MAY FIGHT IT.

Secretary Francis' Nomination Reported

to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The nomination of Hon. David R. Francis to be secretary of the interior has been favorably acted upon by the committee on finance and afterward reported to the senate in executive session. The nomination has been held up in committee

ever since the beginning of the session

in December at the request of Senator

Vest.

Senator Vest was present at the committee meeting, having just returned from Missouri. He made no objection to the committee's reporting the nomination to the senate, but indicated that he might oppose confirmation whenever the nomination should come up in the senate.

"Horses With Wheels."

"It was in the early days of railroading in the south," remarked the gentleman with the stock of reminiscences the other day. "I was located in Florida

about the time when the government had made vassals of the Seminole Indians of that state, and in order to impress

the redoubtable Billy Bowlegs, the Tecumseh of the Seminoles, it had invited

that 'heap big chieftain' to make a trip to the seat of the national government.

Billy was a bit dubious about accepting the invitation, fearing possibly that the great father at Washington might have designs upon his life or happiness, but he was prevailed upon to make the trip,

and he embarked on board of the train with a great show of courage. The trains of that period were not the flimsy ones of today—in fact, on many of the short lines the engineers were compelled to get out of their cabs and walk to lighten the train and permit it to proceed at an even rate of speed. When Billy Bow-legs returned from his visit, he had overcome his trepidation and looked with scorn upon the locomotives. I visited Billy a day or two after his return and asked him how he liked traveling on the iron horse.

"Huh," he said, with an upward

twist of his prominent proboscis, 'horse wheels no good! Big heap no good!

Me on horse better than two. Run way all time. White man heap smart. In-jun heap better. Huh!"—New Orleans

They Say General Weyler Will Be Made

Repeat His Statement That Pinar Del

Rio Is Almost Pacified—Sickness Among

the Insurgents.

NEW WEST, Jan. 13.—Advices received here from Havana say that General Weyler asserts that there are only

500 insurgents in the province of Pinar del Rio; but the Cubans say that he will shortly report having made such a statement. There is no doubt that the insurgents have suffered from sickness

and other causes, but it is claimed that

should the Spanish commander only

partly withdraw his troops from the western part of Pinar del Rio the insurgents will again concentrate in large

bodies, having only scattered into small

groups for the present in order to check

the overwhelmingly large force sent

against them.

The Cubans claim that all such statements are directed from Madrid for the purpose of influencing congressional

action at Washington.

A great deal depends upon Maximo

Gomez and the progress his army will

make during the next few weeks or so.

But, it is not thought likely that Gomez

will risk a pitched battle with the

Spaniards when he can probably accomplish the end in view without taking

any such chances. However, the Cubans expect military news of importance shortly, as it is understood that they have been advised by the New

York junta that the moment is oppor-

tune for a coup of some description,

which will be of importance enough to demonstrate that General Weyler is not stating the exact facts when he says that the province of Pinar del Rio is pacified and that he is now proceeding to accomplish the pacification of the remainder of the island of Cuba.

Reports from Havana are that the insurgents Saturday sacked Calvarious, less than ten miles from the city, drove out the Spanish garrison of 700, burned

nearly half the place, seized a large amount of supplies, destroyed all the cattle they could find and spiked two fine large field pieces that they could not take away.

CUBA NEARLY PACIFIED.

So Weyler Tells the Spanish Legation.

No Terms With United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Senator Dupuy

de Lome's attention has been directed to the published statements purporting to come from Madrid to the effect that the Spanish government had instructed him to notify the American secretary of state that Spain would accept the terms of a peace settlement with Cuba, submitted by the American government, and that he had cabled the authorities

at Madrid of his communicating the acceptance to Mr. Olney. The Spanish minister made a denial.

From other sources it is learned that the situation has undergone no recent change and that the status today is exactly what it has been for some time,

namely a purpose on the part of Spain

to apply extended reforms of autonomy

to Cuba as soon as the pacification of the island is assured.

A cable dispatch just received from General Weyler says the province of Pinar del Rio, which has been the storm

center of recent conflict, is pacified.

This is regarded as not only important in itself, but as completely contradict-ing a published statement made by Senator-elect Mow that Pinar del Rio was not and could not be pacified. General

Weyler in his dispatch explicitly refers to and contradicts this published statement.

With reports that the provinces of Matanzas and Havana are pacified, which are confidently expected by the legation in view of the report from

Pinar del Rio, the reports will cover

practically the entire island, as Santa

Clara province has not been a seat of will shortly repent having made such a statement. There is no doubt that the

insurgents have suffered from sickness

and other causes, but it is claimed that

should the Spanish commander only

partly withdraw his troops from the

western part of Pinar del Rio the insurgents will again concentrate in large

bodies, having only scattered into small

groups for the present in order to check

the overwhelmingly large force sent

against them.

The Cubans claim that all such state-

purpose of influencing congressional

action at Washington.

A great deal depends upon Maximo

Gomez and the progress his army will

make during the next few weeks or so.

But, it is not thought likely that Gomez

will risk a pitched battle with the

Spaniards when he can probably accomplish the end in view without taking

any such chances. However, the Cubans expect military news of importance shortly, as it is understood that they have been advised by the New

York junta that the moment is oppor-

tune for a coup of some description,

which will be of importance enough to

UNORGANIZED MINERS.

President Penna Says They Make All the Trouble.

NINETY PER CENT NON-UNIONISTS.

Or Remain Indifferent to Their Distressing Condition—The National Convention of United Mine Workers in Session at Columbus—Business Transacted.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 13.—The national convention of the United Mine Workers is in session here with about 80 delegates, representing nearly all the bituminous coal districts of the United States, in attendance. President Penna, in his annual address, reviewed the wage troubles of the year and said many methods had been advanced as a means for bettering the condition of the miners. Among them is the restriction of output by limiting the number of cars which a miner may load in a day, or the number of days in a week, or the number of hours in a day a miner may work. President Penna did not believe such a proposition practicable. He was also opposed to a national suspension of work. The chief obstacle to any plan, he said, was that more than 90 per cent of the miners are unorganized or remain indifferent to their condition.

Secretary Pearce's report showed receipts for the year amounting to $111,434.45 and disbursements of $10,851.52, leaving a balance of $582.93. The question of allowing certain locals which had not complied with the rule requiring them to be in good standing for three months previous to the convention, representation in the convention, discussion and resulted in the delegates from the locals being admitted.

Dan Stuart Said to Have Conferred With the Late Attorney General.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—It is reported, on excellent authority, that the fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons is to be pulled off at Carson City, Nev.

Something more than two months ago Dan Stuart made a trip to Carson City, where he conferred with Attorney General Beatty, who has since died. Just before leaving Stuart engaged the services of a surveyor, with whom he went to the Carson City racetrack. Inside the track enclosure they surveyed and staked off ground for a large building.

A reputable man of Nevada said he held a conversation with the late attorney general before the latter was taken sick, and was informed by him that, at Stuart's request, he had carefully gone through the laws of the state, but had failed to find a single word that could be construed as forbidding prizefighting.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Chronicle's Washington correspondent says: "Secretary Olney, replying to a question of the Russian minister, Mr. E. De Kotzebue, as to whether the arbitration treaty with England was offensive and defensive, or anything in the nature of an alliance, said that the question might be answered yes and no."

"That in theory and diplomatic acceptance it was not an alliance, but that it is an alliance in support of Monroe doctrine, which England recognized by terms of the Venezuelan treaty."
"If the arbitration treaty is ratified," Mr. Olney said, "it practically makes Great Britain our ally for the maintenance and enforcement of the Monroe doctrine."

PRETTY NEWS REVIEW

DROVE OUT HIS WIFE

Another Woman Installed in Her Place.

WUCHERER ADDITION SCANDAL

All the People in That Part of Town Are Discussing an Occurrence Which They Believe the Police Should Investigate. This Family Needs a Missionary.

People living in Wucherer addition believe they have a case which deserves the attention of the authorities or the teachings of a missionary, with a strong leaning toward an application of the first named remedy.

The matter has been brewing for a long time, but only broke out one day this week. A resident and his wife decided to increase their income by keeping boarders, and soon found one in the person of a man who worked not far away. The advent of the stranger worked no injury until a few months ago when he brought home with him a woman. Then there was discord. The landlady soon saw her husband paid too much attention to the other, and protested. Quarrel followed quarrel until the night in question when the wife was ordered out of the house, and the stranger was installed in her place. She sought the home of a friend in the lower part of the city, and is now living with her. She told her pitiful story to her former neighbors, and they knowing how matters were in the miserable household, declared the authorities should be notified, but they feared being drawn into the case and have remained silent. They are highly indignant over the man's actions, and the pitiable condition of the poor woman has gained her the sympathy of all who are acquainted with the facts. The police would have no difficulty in accumulating evidence if they desire to punish the guilty ones.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS.

Presbyterian Church and Chapels Well Provided.

Fowler; treasurer, William Jackson; assistant, Charles Bence; secretary, Miss Ida Walper; assistant, Miss Clara Williams; librarians, William Orr and David McLane; organist, Miss Gertie Stoddard; assistant, Mrs. Harry Watkins; leader, John Stoddard. Northside—Superintendent, George C. Murphy; assistant, John A. George; secretary, Jason Orr; treasurer, Miss Hattie Wildblood; organist, Miss McBane. West End—Superintendent, W. A. Hill; assistant, W. V. Harris; secretary, treasurer, Miss Amanda Johnson; organist, Miss Jennie Moore; assistant, Miss Lizzie Crawford.

SHE REJECTED HIM,

And Jesse Alleman Promptly Blew Out His Brains.

Later information from Sistersville says undisputed proof has been obtained which proves that Jesse Alleman, supposed to be from East Liverpool, committed suicide. Letters found near the body showed that the young man had made a proposal of marriage to a prominent young woman the day of his death, and had been rejected. The contents showed this to be the cause of the rash act.

S. F. Fritz, of 677 Sedgwick street, Chicago, says: "I had a severe cough which settled on my lungs. I tried a number of advertised remedies and also placed myself under treatment of several physicians, with no benefit. I was recommended to try Foley's Honey and Tar. With little expectation of getting relief, I purchased a bottle. I had taken but few doses when I felt greatly improved; I was enabled to sleep, spitting of blood ceased, and by the time I had taken the second bottle I was entirely well. It saved my life."

Is Your Child Ruptured?

Is the little one suffering? Does the truss it is using fail in its mission? If so, take the little one to the Hotel Lakel on Saturday, January 16, and ask for J. C. Yes, 'tis true:

Is the best cough medicine. For sale at Bulger's and Reed's drug stores.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

Doctor Tracy Paid His Respects to Them Last Night.

There was a nice audience present at the opera house last night to hear Doctor Tracy denounce the "Boss Devil of America." And how he did denounce it, in terms never to be forgotten by those who heard him, and his denunciation of the infamous liquor traffic is sure to be seed planted in good ground, and work out in a harvest which will save some souls from an endless hell. He denounced alike the "license" and the "tax," describing them as twin devils, or "tweedle-dee" and "tweedle-dum." He was very warm on the trail of the men who, by vote and influence, in the state of Ohio, permit such an infamous measure to exist as is the Dow tax, where men and women of good character, of bad or no character, can open up a den of death and deal out liquid damnation on all sides and at all hours, simply by paying the $350 tax and paying the fines which the municipal authorities impose. Tracy denounced, in unstinted terms, the officials of this city of East Liverpool who fail to enforce the law, as they have sworn to do, and who permit a den of iniquity in the Diamond to run at all hours, and asserted that there is proof on hand, if called for, to show that this statement is a plain matter of fact, and that investigation by our council will show up some officials in a shameful, disgraceful light. Continuing, the doctor said:

Doctor Tracy then spoke of true political economy, showing that, in legitimate business transactions, any and every man is expected to give a just equivalent for value received. He cited the teacher in the educational branches, the dry goods man, the clothier, the grocer, the tailor, the shoemaker, and in fact every really legitimate branch of trade, and demonstrated that they gave fair return for value received. He then called the rum-seller and whisky dealer to judgment, and demonstrated that he gave nothing in return for the nine hundred million dollars which annually pass over the bars of this great nation; aye, nothing and worse than nothing, as the rum-seller gives his miserable victim, in payment, sin, sorrow, broken hearts, of mothers and wives, starved and suffering children, degradation, poverty, crime, murder, and an eternity in hell, with the devil and the damned. Tracy showed how some rum-sellers were apparently generous and free-handed, and some of them gave freely to appeals for charity, and illustrated it as follows:

"I am a rum-seller. I am driving up street on a cold, bitter winter day. A little girl runs out in front of my turn-out. She is thinly clad, barefooted and the picture of misery. I determine to buy shoes and clothes for her, and halt my team for that purpose. The little one looks up in my face, her eyes streaming with tears, her features pinched and bearing evidence of starvation, and she cries out to me: 'Oh, sir, where is my father; my mother is dying and I can't find him. I know you, sir, I've been around at your place after father before. He gets drunk at your place and then comes home and beats and kicks poor mother, and he beats me, too, sir. Do you know where father is now? For God's sake, tell me, sir, as mother wants to see him before she dies.' Then, men, I draw back from the starving little child and thrust the thought of the dying mother away from me. I reach in my pocket and glance at my Dow tax. I have paid for it. I have given the money to your treasurer at Lisbon. I have satisfied the great state of Ohio. I have the approval and backing of your good citizens of East Liverpool, and I have purchased the right to sell the father liquor, starve the child and murder the mother. For God's sake, men of East Liverpool, have a care; don't forget that Almighty God will make you answer, at the great day, for your part in this infamy."

Then Tracy went after the men and women who make a habit of attending church every Sunday, listening to thrilling sermons and splendid music, and who never pay a cent to the minister or the spread of the gospel, and demonstrated how the practical, living Christian minister of the present day must spend thousands of dollars in order to secure a first-class education and fit himself for effective work, and then be expected to work for a starvation salary, finally closing his cutting remarks on non-paying members with:

"There are lots of people who expect to slide into heaven on the coat tail of a starving minister. They pay their minister with the remark: 'God bless you, sir; you are doing a grand work; you are a blessing to the community.' Suppose he would try this on with the dry goods man, the grocer, the tailor or the shoemaker. What a shin-dig he would raise, and how quick he would be told to go down in his pockets for cash."

Space forbids fuller mention of the lecture on the "Boss Devil of America." Suffice it to say that Tracy had his audience with him, and demonstrated that thesame ugly devil is on duty in East Liverpool, hide, hair, horns and hoof. On a rising vote last night, every person in the opera house save 19 persons, promised to try and live sober, honest lives, and to do all they could against the rum traffic.

One incident we must mention. The stereopticon was showing noted men of the day, when Grover Cleveland's picture came upon the canvas and some persons hissed. Tracy sprang to the front of the stage and said sternly: "Stop that—don't dare do it. I didn't vote for Grover Cleveland; but he is the president of this great nation, and, as its head, we must honor him."

A great wave of applause greeted this manly sentiment. Tracy's a brick.

WANT A LOCATION.

A Youngstown Tin Company Would Come to East Liverpool.

Geo. Y. Travis, secretary of the board of trade, today received a letter from the Alcania Tin & Terne Plate company, of Youngstown, asking what natural advantages for the location of a tin mill this city possessed. If he cared to look up the matter the company said their representative would be sent here. Mr. Travis will answer at once, telling them to send on their representative. They ask no bonus. A sample of the tin made by the company was enclosed in the letter.

tion by moving it be left until the next meeting."

Mr. Parinton—I rise to a point of order. It is a new motion.

Mr. Stewart, at the suggestion of Mr. Marshall, moved the ballot be laid over.

Mr. Parinton—I rise to a point of order. It is a new motion, and not contained in the amendment.

The solicitor was consulted, and decided the motion out of order.

Mr. Marshall—It is not an amendment. It is proper and correct and is not out of order.

Solicitor Grosshans—You are out of order on your own proposition. The rules say that an objection can only be made when the matter is open for debate.

A vote was taken and the amendment carried. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Marshall voting no, Mr. Stewart changed his vote to yes, probably in the hope of getting a reconsideration at the next meeting.

The pay roll came next, and the bill of Robert Hall for $16.22 was passed, and the solicitor recommended the paying of the costs in the Leatherow case, as well as the judgment for $400, as he believed it was cheaper to pay the amount than pay the costs.

Mr. Parinton wanted to know when council employed A. E. Bertele as officer, and said the ordinance said the mayor could do certain things with consent of council.

Clerk Hanley said council did not know Officer Meador had resigned. Mr. Parinton said he did not know of any objections to Bertele, but if the mayor could appoint a man in that manner he could do as he pleases. Mr. Pezke thought it was an insult to council. The ordinance was passed, and upon motion of Marshall the clerk will notify Mayor Gilbert. If he wants a policeman he must appoint him in the right manner.

Mr. Parinton said he wouldn't vote for payroll again until this was done, and there was some talk about Mr. Bertele having no bond.

Ordinances establishing grade lines on Oak street and Riverview avenue were read, and the contract to construct the bridge over Minerva street was given to Cunningham & Shingleton.

Clerk Hanley said the street railway company had withdrawn their bond, and council adjourned.

"CONSISTENCY, THOU ART A JEWEL."

Some of the Members of Council Do Not Believe This.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—I was in council chamber last night, and found very much to entertain me. I have noted the actions and words of certain members, and their conduct is simply inexplicable, unless I may brand them as frauds of the first water, unworthy of credence and trust, and unfit to occupy the positions they now do as public servants. The members I have reference to made a great parade of what they called their honor and honesty, some time since, when they were fighting, tooth and toe nail, against the city being imposed upon by the Ceramic City Light company in a 10 year contract; and now one of these same fellows, in my estimation a blatant hypocrite, is advocating a 25 year franchise in favor of the street railway company. Some one should take him aside and tell him that a good liar, if such a thing be possible, should possess a good memory, or else keep a memorandum of his public utterances. Go to, thou fraud, and let some honest and brainy man, square and truthful, sit in the halls of judgment.

The place bore a reputation none too good, and the neighbors are glad it is gone. The loss is $20.

HE RESCUED A WOMAN

She Was In the River and Shrieking For Help.

OLA TOOLE'S UNENVIABLE FLIGHT

She Declares She Fell Off the Wharfboat, but There Are People Who Believe It Was an Attempt at Suicide—She Is All Right Today.

Half drowned yet shrieking for help Ola Toole, of Broadway, was dragged from the river last midnight by J. J. Coleman.

Coleman and his family live in a shanty boat below Broadway. Near the hour mentioned they were awakened by loud cries. Coleman ran from the boat without going through the formality of dressing, and jumping into a skiff rowed out into the river. When he returned he brought with him Ola Toole, half drowned and frightened. Restoratives were administered, and she was kept during the night.

To a reporter today Miss Toole said she had not tried to end her life. She wanted to board the Kanawha, and going to the wharf found the door locked. In attempting to pass around to the river door she fell into the river. She stoutly denies she attempted suicide, but people on the river front would not this morning look at the matter in any other way.

THE COUNTY TREASURERSHIP.

Good Words For an Able, Efficient and True Citizen.

The time is approaching for the Republican primaries for the selection of candidates for the county offices. Fairfield township has a candidate for the county treasurership. Our object in thus presenting his name early is that the Republican voters of Columbiana county may have ample time to investigate his merits and fitness for the office and at the primaries be fully prepared to say whether they want him for their next treasurer or not.

Our candidate is Charles E. Smith, of Columbiana. He is the junior member of the mercantile firm of H. H. Smith & Son, of this place. He has been in business here for nearly 20 years. His long and successful business career and his constant contact with the public during all that time especially fit him for the duties and responsibilities of the office. His ability, integrity and fitness are best shown by his business success, and they are vouched for by his many friends and the people with whom he has done business in this community. Mr. Smith has always been an active Republican, and an assiduous worker for the welfare of the party.

The recently enacted Garfield law which limits the expenses of the candidates will prevent a thorough personal canvass, but Mr. Smith is active and energetic and will, we know, see as many of the voters as possible. Of those whom he will have the pleasure of meeting, we ask a careful hearing and a favorable consideration of his claims. We especially ask of those voters whom Mr. Smith is not fortunate enough to see personally to inquire into his ability and fitness for the position he seeks.

We might urge that Fairfield township is fairly entitled to a place on the county ticket by reason of the energetic and effective work done in every campaign by the members of the party in this township, but we prefer to base the claims of our candidate on his own merits.—Exchange.

People Don't Buy Pianos

for looks alone. If they did, any one of the pretty piano cases offered for sale, with the tin-pan attachment inside, would do very well and not cost much. A few months' use serves to show the difference between a piano carefully made of excellent material and a piano made of cheap stuff, slapped together any how.

The Briggs Piano is one of the best. You may see it any time you will come in. "Seeing's Free."

DROVE OUT HIS WIFE

Another Woman Installed In Her Place.

WUCHERER ADDITION SCANDAL

All the People In That Part of Town Are Discussing an Occurrence Which They Believe the Police Should Investigate.
This Family Needs a Missionary.

People living in Wucherer addition believe they have a case which deserves the attention of the authorities or the teachings of a missionary, with a strong leaning toward an application of the first named remedy.

The matter has been brewing for a long time, but only broke out one day this week. A resident and his wife decided to increase their income by keeping boarders, and soon found one in the person of a man who worked not far away. The advent of the stranger worked no injury until a few months ago when he brought home with him a woman. Then there was discord. The landlady soon saw her husband paid too much attention to the other, and protested. Quarrel followed quarrel until the night in question when the wife was ordered out of the house, and the stranger was installed in her place. She sought the home of a friend in the lower part of the city, and is now living with her. She told her pitiful story to her former neighbors, and they knowing how matters were in the miserable household, declared the authorities should be notified, but they feared being drawn into the case and have remained silent. They are highly indignant over the man's actions, and the pitiable condition of the poor woman has gained her the sympathy of all who are acquainted with the facts. The police would have no difficulty in accumulating evidence if they desire to punish the guilty ones.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS.

Presbyterian Church and Chapels Well Provided.

Following are the officers elected last night for the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian church and its chapels:

First church—Superintendent, George L. Matheny; assistants, Harry Watkins and F. W. Fowler; treasurer, William Jackson; assistant, Charles Benice; secretary, Miss Ida Walper; assistant, Miss Clara Williams; librarians, William Orr and David McLane; organist, Miss Gertrude Stoddard; assistant, Mrs. Harry Watkins; leader, John Stoddard.

Northside—Superintendent, George C. Murphy; assistant, John A. George; secretary, Jason Orr; treasurer, Miss Hattie Wildblood; organist, Miss McBane.

West End—Superintendent, W. A. Hill; assistant, W. V. Harris; secretary, treasurer, Miss Amanda Johnson; organist, Miss Jennie Moore; assistant, Miss Lizzie Crawford.

SHE REJECTED HIM.

And Jesse Allenman Promptly Blew Out
His Brains.

Later information from Sistersville says undisputable proof has been obtained which proves that Jesse Allenman, supposed to be from East Liverpool, committed suicide. Letters found near the body showed that the young man had made a proposal of marriage to a prominent young woman the day of his death, and had been rejected. The contents showed this to be the cause of the rash act.

At First U. F. Church.

Special evangelical services every evening this week, conducted by Miss Jean Sloan, president of the young ladies' missionary society, and Mr. David Reed, president of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society. All are cordially invited. A special invitation extended to young men and women.

S. F. Fritz, of 677 Sedgwick street, Chicago, says: "I had a severe cough which settled on my lungs. I tried a number of advertised remedies and also placed myself under treatment of several physicians, with no benefit. I was recommended to try Foley's Honey and Tar. With little expectation of getting relief, I purchased a bottle. I had taken but few doses when I felt greatly improved; I was enabled to sleep, spitting of blood ceased, and by the time I had taken the second bottle I was entirely well. It saved my life."

Is Your Child Ruptured?

Is the little one suffering? Does the truss it is using fail in its mission? If so, take the little one to the Hotel Lakel on Saturday, January 16, and ask for J. C. Calhoun, a resident of New Brighton, Beaver county, a magistrate who years ago invented this truss, which has cured hundreds of adults and children, and which has given ease and comfort to pain racked bodies, when all other means failed.

Yes, 'tis true;

Foley's Honey and Tar

Is the best cough medicine.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

Doctor Tracy Paid His Respects to Them
Last Night.

There was a nice audience present at the opera house last night to hear Doctor Tracy denounce the "Boss Devil of America." And how he did denounce it, in terms never to be forgotten by those who heard him, and his denunciation of the infamous liquor traffic is sure to be seed planted in good ground, and work out in a harvest which will save some souls from an endless hell. He denounced alike the "license" and the "tax," describing them as twin devils, or "tweedle-dee" and "tweedle-dum." He was very warm on the trail of the men who, by vote and influence, in the state of Ohio, permit such an infamous measure to exist as is the DOW tax, where men and women of good character, of bad or no character, can open up a den of death and deal out liquid damnation on all sides and at all hours, simply by paying the $350 tax and paying the fines which the municipal authorities impose. Tracy denounced, in unstinted terms, the officials of this city of East Liverpool who fail to enforce the law, as they have sworn to do, and who permit a den of iniquity in the Diamond to run at all hours, and asserted that there is proof on hand, if called for, to show that this statement is a plain matter of fact, and that investigation by our council will show up some officials in a shameful, disgraceful light. Continuing, the doctor said:

Doctor Tracy then spoke of true political economy, showing that, in legitimate business transactions, any and every man is expected to give a just equivalent for value received. He cited the teacher in the educational branches, the dry goods man, the clothier, the grocer, the tailor, the shoemaker, and in fact every really legitimate branch of trade, and demonstrated that they gave fair return for value received. He then called the rum-seller and whisky dealer to judgment, and demonstrated that he gave nothing in return for the nine hundred million dollars which annually pass over the bars of this great nation; aye, nothing and worse than nothing, as the rum-seller gives his miserable victim, in payment, sin, sorrow, broken hearts, of mothers and wives, starved and suffering children, degradation, poverty, crime, murder, and an eternity in hell, with the devil and the damned. Tracy showed how some rum-sellers were apparently generous and free-handed, and some of them gave freely to appeals for charity, and illustrated it as follows:

"I am a rum-seller. I am driving up street on a cold, bitter winter day. A little girl runs out in front of my turn-out. She is thinly clad, barefooted and the picture of misery. I determine to buy shoes and clothes for her, and halt my team for that purpose. The little one looks up in my face, her eyes streaming with tears, her features pinched and bearing evidence of starvation, and she cries out to me: 'Oh, sir, where is my father; my mother is dying and I cannot find him. I know you, sir, I've been around at your place after father before. He gets drunk at your place and then comes home and beats and kicks poor mother, and he beats me, too, sir. Do you know where father is now? For God's sake, tell me, sir, as mother wants to see him before she dies.' Then, men, I draw back from the starving little child and thrust the thought of the dying mother away from me. I reach in my pocket and glance at my DOW tax. I have paid for it. I have given the money to your treasurer at Lisbon. I have satisfied the great state of Ohio. I have the approval and backing of your good citizens of East Liverpool, and I have purchased the right to sell the father liquor, starve the child and murder the mother. For God's sake, men of East Liverpool, have a care; don't forget that Almighty God will make you answer, at the great day, for your part in this infamy."

Then Tracy went after the men and women who make a habit of attending church every Sunday, listening to thrilling sermons and splendid music, and who never pay a cent to the minister or the spread of the gospel, and demonstrated how the practical, living Christian minister of the present day must spend thousands of dollars in order to secure a first-class education and fit himself for effective work, and then be expected to work for a starvation salary, finally closing his cutting remarks on non-paying members with:

"There are lots of people who expect to slide into heaven on the coat tail of a starving minister. They pay their minister with the remark: 'God bless you, sir; you are doing a grand work; you are a blessing to the community.' Suppose he would try this on with the dry goods man, the grocer, the tailor or the shoemaker. What a shin-dig he would raise, and how quick he would be to go down in his pockets for cash."

Space forbids fuller mention of the lecture on the "Boss Devil of America." Suffice it to say that Tracy had his audience with him, and demonstrated that the same ugly devil is on duty in East Liverpool, hide, hair, horns and hoof. On a rising vote last night, every person in the opera house save 19 persons, promised to try and live sober, honest lives, and to do all they could against the rum traffic.

One incident we must mention. The stereopticon was showing noted men of the day, when Grover Cleveland's picture came upon the canvas and some persons hissed. Tracy sprang to the front of the stage and said sternly:

"Stop that—don't dare do it. I didn't vote for Grover Cleveland; but he is the president of this great nation, and, as his head, we must honor him."

A great wave of applause greeted this manly sentiment. Tracy's a brick.

WANT A LOCATION.

A Youngstown Tin Company Would Come
to East Liverpool.

Geo. Y. Travis, secretary of the board of trade, today received a letter from the Alcania Tin & Terne Plate company, of Youngstown, asking what natural advantages for the location of a tin mill this city possessed. If he cared to look up the matter the company said their representative would be sent here. Mr. Travis will answer at once, telling them to send on their representative. They ask no bonus. A sample of the tin made by the company was enclosed in the letter.

STREET RAILWAY CASES.

They Will Be Heard In Court Next Week.

LISBON, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The first assignment for the coming term of court was given out last night. It covers a period of six weeks, beginning January 18. In the first week the suits of Frank Green, C. H. Spence and E. McGovern against Jacob Friester will be heard Jan. 22.

SOME ROWDIES

Entered the McKinley Club Rooms and Caused Damage.

Some unprincipled parties entered the McKinley club rooms last night, and overturned several spittoons, broke a few chairs, and wrote on the black-board, "This is our hog pen." The matter was reported to President E. W. Hill who placed it before Mayor Gilbert. If possible the unprincipled parties will be prosecuted.

She is a graduate of the Western Reserve college, and has also completed a post graduate course. She will have the degree of master of arts conferred upon her next June. She has studied in France and Germany, and is eminently qualified as a teacher.

Mr. Parinton—I rise to a point of order. It is a new motion.

Mr. Stewart, at the suggestion of Mr. Marshall, moved the ballot be laid over.

Mr. Parinton—I rise to a point of order. It is a new motion, and not contained in the amendment.

The solicitor was consulted, and decided the motion out of order.

Mr. Marshall—It is not an amendment. It is proper and correct and is not out of order.

Solicitor Grosshans—You are out of order on your own proposition. The rules say that an objection can only be made when the matter is open for debate.

A vote was taken and the amendment carried. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Marshall voting no. Mr. Stewart changed his vote to yes, probably in the hope of getting a reconsideration at the next meeting.

The pay roll came next, and the bill of Robert Hall for $16.22 was passed, and the solicitor recommended the paying of the costs in the Leatherow case, as well as the judgment for $400, as he believed it was cheaper to pay the amount than pay the costs.

Mr. Parinton wanted to know when council employed A. E. Bertele as officer, and said the ordinance said the mayor could do certain things with consent of council. Clerk Hanley said council did not know Officer Menard had resigned. Mr. Parinton said he did not know of any objections to Bertele, but if the mayor could appoint a man in that manner he could do as he pleases. Mr. Peeke thought it was an insult to council. The ordinance was passed, and upon motion of Marshall the clerk will notify Mayor Gilbert. If he wants a policeman he must appoint him in the right manner.

Mr. Parinton said he wouldn't vote for payroll again until this was done, and there was some talk about Mr. Bertele having no bond.

Ordinances establishing grade lines on Oak street and Riverview avenue were read, and the contract to construct the bridge over Minerva street was given to Cunningham & Shingleton.

Clerk Hanley said the street railway company had withdrawn their bond, and council adjourned.

"CONSISTENCY, THOU ART A JEWEL."

Some of the Members of Council Do Not Believe This.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—I was in council chamber last night, and found very much to entertain me. I have noted the actions and words of certain members, and their conduct is simply inexplicable, unless I may brand them as frauds of the first water, unworthy of credence and trust, and unfit to occupy the positions they now do as public servants. The members I have reference to made a great parade of what they called their honor and honesty, some time since, when they were fighting, tooth and toe nail, against the city being imposed upon by the Ceramic CityLight company in a 10 year contract; and now one of these same fellows, in my estimation a blatant hypocrite, is advocating a 25 year franchise in favor of the street railway company. Some one should take him aside and tell him that a good liar, if such a thing be possible, should possess a good memory, or else keep a memorandum of his public utterances. Go to, thou fraud, and let some honest and brainy man, square and truthful, sit in the halls of judgment.

HE RESCUED A WOMAN

She Was In the River and Shrieking For Help.

OLA TOOLE'S UNENVIABLE PLIGHT

She Declares She Fell Off the Wharfoat,
but There Are People Who Believe It Was an Attempt at Suicide—She Is All Right Today.

Half drowned yet shrieking for help Ola Toole, of Broadway, was dragged from the river last midnight by J. J. Coleman.

Coleman and his family live in a shanty boat below Broadway. Near the hour mentioned they were awakened by loud cries. Coleman ran from the boat without going through the formality of dressing, and jumping into a skiff rowed out into the river. When he returned he brought with him Ola Toole, half drowned and frightened. Restoratives were administered, and she was kept during the night.

To a reporter today Miss Toole said she had not tried to end her life. She wanted to board the Kanawha, and going to the wharf found the door locked. In attempting to pass around to the river door she fell into the river. She stoutly denies she attempted suicide, but people on the river front would not this morning look at the matter in any other way.

THE COUNTY TREASURERSHIP.

Good Words For an Able, Efficient and True Citizen.

The time is approaching for the Republican primaries for the selection of candidates for the county offices. Fairfield township has a candidate for the county treasurership. Our object in thus presenting his name early is that the Republican voters of Columbiana county may have ample time to investigate his merits and fitness for the office and at the primaries be fully prepared to say whether they want him for their next treasurer or not.

Our candidate is Charles E. Smith, of Columbiana. He is the junior member of the mercantile firm of H. H. Smith & Son, of this place. He has been in business here for nearly 20 years. His long and successful business career and his constant contact with the public during all that time especially fit him for the duties and responsibilities of the office.

His ability, integrity and fitness are best shown by his business success, and they are vouched for by his many friends and the people with whom he has done business in this community. Mr. Smith has always been an active Republican, and an assiduous worker for the welfare of the party.

The recently enacted Garfield law which limits the expenses of the candidates will prevent a thorough canvass, but Mr. Smith is active and energetic and will, we know, see as many of the voters as possible. Of those whom he will have the pleasure of meeting, we ask a careful hearing and a favorable consideration of his claims.

We especially ask of those voters whom Mr. Smith is not fortunate enough to see personally to inquire into his ability and fitness for the position he seeks.

We might urge that Fairfield township is fairly entitled to a place on the county ticket by reason of the energetic and effective work done in every campaign by the members of the party in this township, but we prefer to base the claims of our candidate on his own merits.—Exchange.
